HOW SHE HATCHES A SLANDER.

The Congregationalist Self-Convicted.

OF A VERY CONTEMPTIBLE CALUMNY.

(From the N. Y. Tribune, June 27.)

The Congregationalist, a religious newspaper published in Boston, and the leading newspaper of the Congregational Church, is now [illegible] to the defense of the Rev. James Freeman Clarke in the following editorial, elevated and exhaustive opinion, published in its columns May 23, 1878:

WEDNESDAY, JULY 3, 1878.

"A SLANDERER PILLORIED."

We recently had occasion to refer in emphatic, but fitting terms to the contemptible slur invented by the Boston Congregationalist to satisfy its spite against Gail Hamilton. Smarting under the exposure of its political dishonesty and phariseeism, given in one of her letters, the noble editor made no attempt to meet her arraignment like a man, but waited until she had taken another of the reform egotists in hand, when the Congregationalist reached into the arena to make a face at her and indorse a "rumor" that Senator Blaine paid the Tribune for publishing her letters! We closed our comments on this malicious and ridiculous calumny, with these words:

Surely no stronger evidence could be given of the need of just such exposures as Gail Hamilton has made of the recklessness and prejudice with which certain papers and "religious" papers have treated public questions, than this resort to so mean a slander by an editor incapable of answering the arguments of a gifted woman in any more honorable way. In printing such a spiteful calumny the editor of the Congregationalist disgraces journalism and brings discredit upon the religion which he professes to teach.

If any "stronger evidence" were needed is is fully supplied by the cowardly editor, himself, in the correspondence published by Gail Hamilton in the scathing letter which is printed on our first page. A newspaper, pretending to be honorable and assuming to represent a great and estimable religious denomination, which publishes a gratuitous calumny and then refuses to give any authority while failing to make any retraction or reparation, is very appropriately characterized by the comments of the Tribune which we print in connection with the letter. We should think the Congregationalist editor would hasten to find some cave wherein to hide himself.

SOLON CHASE IN 1857.

Solon Chase, who now delights in the title of the "Father of the Greenback Party in Maine," furnishes in his own person and record a fair sample of the insincerity and demagogism of the shouters for inflation. Like most of his confederates in the mischievous crusade against sound principles of finance, he has been publicly committed hitherto by the strongest denunciation of the heresies he now champions, and his record shows that he is guided by no principle and governed by no honor. We have already given some chapters from his history, in which he figured as the publisher of political "tracts," bitterly denouncing the dogmas of inflation, and the Lewiston Gazette has recently brought out another of his papers, being his "Poor Man's Tract," No. 3, which he published in the winter of 1870-71. He addresses himself to "Bill the shoe-bottomer," to show him how he is made to suffer by the "irredeemable," "lying paper money," and to convince him that every interest of the laboring man demands a return to specie payments. In that "Tract" he vehemently clamors for hard-money, and liberally assuming a surplus Government revenue of $170,000,000 a year, he goes on to urge specie payments as follows:

> What this sum specie payments can be resumed at once, and the promise visibly written on the face of the greenback to pay the dollar, made good. This would give Bill a good dollar for his work, and the wounded veteran good money for his pension, which is only justice and fair play to Bill and the veteran; that Bill would not only work for gold wages as he does now, but would buy his goods at gold prices, and thereby save another large item of the $254.24 that is pressed out of him annually. SPECIE PAYMENTS IS THE ONE THING NEEDFUL TO OUR PROSPERITY, AND WILL CURE US OF MANY FINANCIAL ILLS. The moment you have got specie payments, Pendleton's and Butler's theory of paying the bonds in greenbacks, which means neither more nor less than more and more money, becomes obsolete. Congress in its blunderings, did not agree to pay the principal of the bonds in gold, it ought to have agreed to, and specie payments will make that agreement what it ought to be. THE WIT OF MAN CANNOT DEVISE ANY SCHEME THAT WILL BRING ABOUT SPECIE PAYMENTS OTHER THAN REDEEMING GREENBACKS WITH GOLD; that is, let somebody else have some good money besides the bondholder.

We commend the above utterances of their present chief apostle, to all who have given heed to the recent inflation rant of the very cheap and shallow demagogue who is travelling about the State in the role of the "Honest Farmer."

SUDDEN DEATH OF JAMES S. BEDLOW, ESQ.

The wires of the Telegraph Company whose affairs have been so efficiently managed by him, brought to us yesterday afternoon the sad announcement of the sudden death of Superintendent James S. Bedlow, who was so recently in this city in his usual health. The circumstances of the sorrowful event are given in our despatches, and it would seem that the sudden shock to his system by plunging into the cold water to rescue his daughter and her companion, must have induced apoplexy which proved immediately fatal. The occurrence of the tragedy so near the shore, which he was confident of reaching, renders it all the more painful, and the sudden death of the father in the presence of his wife and rescued child must have been full of heart-rending anguish to them.

The death of Mr. Bedlow will be nowhere felt more keenly than in this city where he formerly resided, and where hosts of friends will grieve at his untimely fate. Mr. Bedlow was 52 years of age at the time of his death. He was born in Portland, but while quite a young man he learned the trade of book-binding with Col. David Bugbee, of this city, and in 1849 went to California with the great tide of emigration at that period. Returning here he conducted a bindery in connection with the bookstore of Mr. E. F. Duren and from 1850 to 1852 they were in partnership under the style of E. F. Duren & Co. Mr. Duren warmly attests the faithfulness and ability of his partner, who would have continued longer in the business had not Mr. James Eddy, then connected with the American Telegraph Company in Bangor, induced him to take a position in that office. He was Manager of the Bangor office from 1853 to 1856, when he moved to Portland to take the position of District Superintendent which he continued to hold after the American was merged in the Western Union Telegraph Co., and until the time of his death.

In that position he enjoyed the highest confidence of the Company and the esteem of the public, being thoroughly devoted to his business and full of energy in its performance. In his death the newspaper press of Maine have lost a valued friend, as he was ever ready to facilitate the transmission of news, and courteously obliging to all.

He was first married to Miss Lucy Ann Crosby, daughter of Timothy Crosby, Esq., of this city. She died here in 1852 leaving a son, Charles, who is Assistant Superintendent of the Division. His second wife was Miss Sophia Kellogg, of Portland, who survives him, with five children including the son mentioned. Mr. Bedlow had but recently built the cottage at Scarboro' and probably had not been occupying it more than two or three days, when he met his sudden death.

The deceased was a prominent and highly esteemed member of the Masonic Order, and will be deeply lamented by the fraternity in this city and in the State. A very close friendship existed between him and the late Mr. Lynde of this paper, and the most cordial relations had been continued with the present proprietors. Only a few weeks ago we were unavoidably prevented from accompanying Mr. Bedlow on a vacation trip to Moosehead Lake, and the last time we saw him was when exchanging pleasant words of anticipation of the jaunt. He was a man of quick perceptions, well informed, cordial in friendship and agreeable manners. We remember his pleasant smile and regret that we shall see it no more.

[From the Daily of re erday.]

"SHAME, WHERE IS THY BLUSH?"

We ask the attention of our readers to the following inquiries and answers" which appeared in Saturday evening's Commercial, and which exhibit the most deliberate and shameful shuffling to which the editor of that paper has yet been forced in his champ ons'ip of debt lies which in the past he has every year denounced:

REDEEMABLE NO EY.

NEWTON, June 24, 1878.

MR EMERY:—As you answer questions for your subscribers, will you please an wer the following:

First—What is the difference between redeemable and irredeemable money, or how is redeemable money redeemed?

Second—What have been the results in countries where they have opposed irredeemable currency?

SUBSCRIBER.

We receive many inquiries which are entirely beyond the scope and purpose of this column. A question may be framed in a half dozen words, to answer which would require columns. Such is the nature of the second inquiry above. It covers too much ground.

We beg of our "correspondent" to "set up" on our genial neighbor. He begins to manifest those ominous symptoms of obstructed mental action by "mixing things." It is only necessary to note the manner in which his leader was mixed up this morning. This financial question is more than his weary brain can manage.—Commercial.

The above powerful reference to the misplacing of a portion of the type of our editorial yesterday by the person making up the form, is all the answer the Commercial can find to our exposure of its dishonesty and hypocrisy. As we are not afraid to see our statements "dusted in print," we republish the editorial referred to, without any change to our ecinemporary for its extra advertisement.

While the Commercial editor confines himself to shouting for "all who think alike to act together," he has moved his Lincoln correspondent down to Bangor and surrendered the finance problems to the handling of that genius, who seems as anxious to be appropriately "written down" as Dogberry was. The writer evinces enough shame to hide his name, but we would be glad to give him the personal glory of his performance in some connection that we may make upon it. If he pants for fame he should send in his name at once.

We used to hear about squirrels between the hedgehog and another belligerent, and now Maree Jus Emery and Doctor Jordan are at it. They would make a nice pair in a glass case.

NOTICES OF THE PRESS.

The veteran Magazine, which long ago outgrew its youthful title of the Young Monthly Magazine, has not in the least abated the popularity it won at the outset, but has added to it in many ways, and has become, in the highest degree, worthy of the confidence of the publishers and the love and wishes of its editors. For whatever is best and most readable in the literature of travel, history, and fiction, the average reader of to-day looks to Harper's Magazine, and is especially apt to find it so.—Boston Journal.

HIS SUDDEN DEATH

Particulars of the Sad Event.

PORTLAND, July 2. James S. Bolton, superintendent of the Western Union Telegraph Company, was drowned at Peak's Point Harbor this morning. One of the children got beyond her depth while bathing and drowned, and he ran to her assistance with his clothes on and it is thought was taken suddenly and drowned before assistance could reach him.

Unwarranted Sentence.

The speed of his death spread quickly over the city, causing a universal feeling of sadness, as he was well known and highly esteemed in the community. He was a Director of the Board of Trade and especially active in that and other good works. He was a native of East Machias, came here from Bangor in 1855, taking the direct superintendency of the American Telegraph Company, afterwards merged into the Western Union line, which office he had administered with great diligence and ability ever since. He leaves a wife and five children.

Further Particulars of the Sad Event.

The death of Superintendent Bolton occurred at 10 o'clock this morning. His brother-in-law Joseph Mellaney had taken Bolton and Miss Brown, both quite short, into deep water, but finding they were nothing there to swim. Leaving Bolton in about water waist deep, with an oar, he took Miss Brown out into deep water. While instructing her Miss Bolton floated into deep water and drowned. Leaving Miss Brown out of her depth, Mellaney started to aid his sister. His second by our hearth school, Mrs. Bolton called her husband, who stripped partially and put in. Mellaney, who had reached the lady, was cried out, "Go to Miss Brown," and Mr. Bolton rushed towards her at great speed. The distance being about 200 feet, he reached her and brought her safely to Mellaney, who having landed his sister swam towards him. Mr. Bolton said: "Take her Joe and I will swim ashore."

Heroic Death Described.

He was then seen sinking and being exhausted proposed to swim to assistance on his back. All his exertion he was discovered to be motionless and his last feeling of him. Mr. Mellaney and another gentleman went at once to the assistance and found that he had turned upon his face, which was purple. He gave no sign of life after, although a medical gentleman tried for an hour and a half to resuscitate him. Probably death was occasioned by a spasm and strength of the waters of the water. Flowers were sent to their cottage by Rev. Mr. Adams, of Mass Point, and the body and family reached this city at five o'clock.

PORTLAND, July 2. The Greenback Congressional Convention for the Fifth District held here this afternoon was largely attended. On the last ballot Thurston H. Rounds, Rockland, Secretary of the Maine Mutual Beneficial Cutter's Union was nominated on the Weissgerber's candidate by 16 majority. The nominee is about 40 years old and formerly a Democrat.

THE BANGOR FIRE.

Losses and Insurance.

PORTLAND, July 2. The losses by the destructive fire and insurances are as follows: Morrill & Bennett, loss $1,000 on block; insured for $1,000, in Manufacturers' and German American. Morrill & Bill's loss on stock is covered by a $2,000 policy in the Hamburg-American. Silver & Rowell loss $600 on their stock of clothing and hold policies of $1,000 and $2,000, in the Connecticut and Hartford. The Knights of Pythias and Masons were insured for $600; loss total. Morrill & Bennett's loss on balcony is fully covered by $600 with Springfield. Wm. Miller's dwelling was valued at $1,000; insured for $600 with Home. Preston, Emery's tin shop and barn were insured for $1,000 in Maine and $1,000 in the Franklin; loss $4,000. Daniel Clark's house was injured $400; covered by insurance in the Springfield. Neither of the churches nor J. S. Kimball's house and barn were insured. The total loss is estimated at about $60,000. The aggregate of insurance is $11,700.

FIRES ELSEWHERE.

Steamer Burned to the Water's Edge.

Two Steamboats Destroyed by Fire.

Destruction of Property.

Loss of Life.

Particulars of the Disaster.

NEW YORK, July 2. A Times correspondent writes: The steamer Mary Ann McClure, Capt. Wm. Hall, left Pittsburgh on Saturday afternoon for Cincinnati, with a large number of excursionists on board. She had a full cargo of freight, and was towing a barge loaded with coal. At 2 o'clock this morning, when about 15 miles above Cincinnati, the steamer was discovered to be on fire. The flames spread with great rapidity, and in a few minutes the whole boat was enveloped in flames. The scene that followed was terrible in the extreme. Many of the passengers were asleep when the fire was discovered, and were awakened by the cries of those who were already aroused. Many of the passengers were compelled to jump overboard to escape the flames, and were drowned. The boat was burned to the water's edge, and sank in a few minutes after the fire was discovered. The number of passengers on board is not known, but it is supposed to be about 200. The number of lives lost is also unknown, but it is supposed to be about 50. The boat was insured for $10,000.
